zetVisions Corporate Investment Management software successfully recertified in new major release

Auditors have confirmed “factual accuracy and integrity of data processing“

Heidelberg, November 2nd, 2011 – For the third time auditors have evaluated the solution zetVisions Corporate Investment Manager (zetVisions CIM) by the zetVisions AG, the Heidelberg-based market leader for corporate investment management software. After an elaborate testing procedure the “factual accuracy of processing” could be confirmed once more. Among others, the depiction of equity transactions, such as capital reserves, retained incomes and annual result but also changes in the area of legal reporting were tested.

Monika Pürsing, CEO of zetVisions AG, explains: “The renewed certification confirms our quality claim and guarantees to our customers and also to those who are interested that our software provides a reliable infrastructure for more compliance and process efficiency in the company. As far as we know, this is the only certification of this software type in our segment – A genuine unique selling proposition which we are very proud of.”

Numerous processes in the administration, controlling and the governance of groups of companies are supported by zetVisions CIM. In the area of the assignment of mandates, the fulfilment of legal reporting requirements and the monitoring of key figures, the underlying data quality and process stability is of great importance.
